1. Rationale for teaching languages

As the UK is becoming an increasingly multicultural society, we have a duty to provide our children with an understanding of other cultures and languages. At William Law School we strongly believe in the benefits of learning another language.

- Learning a language enriches the curriculum, helping to create enthusiastic, independent learners and to develop positive attitudes to language learning throughout life. The natural links between languages and other areas of the curriculum can enhance the overall teaching and learning experience.
- Language lies at the heart of ideas about individual identity and community. Learning another language therefore greatly increases a child's sense of cultural awareness and appreciation. By learning about similarities and difference with others; children can be given a new perspective on their own culture and language as well as developing empathy for others.
- Language learning stimulates children's creativity and imagination. Taking an active part in language lessons through singing, reciting rhymes and poems, creating mimes and role plays, responding to stories and playing games enables children to experiment creatively with language.
- With its emphasis on communication, language learning supports the development of oracy and literacy skills. Children take part in role plays, conversations and asking and answering questions in response to a variety of visual and aural stimuli. This 'education of the ear' underpins children's capabilities in oracy which is critical to effective communication as well as a key foundation for literacy.
- The earlier a child is exposed to a foreign language, the faster the language in question is acquired. Furthermore, it is widely believed that the early acquisition of a foreign language facilitates the learning of other foreign languages later in life.

2. Aims

The aims of teaching a Modern Foreign Language at William Law School are:

- to foster an interest in learning other languages;
- to introduce young children to another language in a way that is enjoyable and fun;
- to make children aware that language has structure, and that the structure differs from one language to another;
- to help children develop their awareness of cultural differences in other countries;
- to develop pupils' speaking and listening skills;
- to enable learners to explore and apply strategies to improve their learning;
- to lay the foundations for future study.

3. Organisation

In line with government policy, all children in Key Stage 2 take part in a weekly language lesson. The lessons are 45 minutes long and focus on learning French in Years 3 – 5 and German in Year 6. To ensure progression and transition across year groups, lessons are currently delivered by the MFL co-ordinator. In addition, class teachers are given some suggested follow up activities to use outside the timetabled language lessons.

4. Curriculum

The curriculum that we follow is based on the Key Stage 2 framework for languages. In year 3, the Dinocrocs methodology uses highly-structured stories with progressive vocabulary to enable pupils to learn French. This is supplemented by word and sentence level work as well as activities to further intercultural understanding. In Years 4 and 5 lessons are based on the Rigolo scheme of work. Year 6 German lessons are based on guidance from the QCA KS2 Framework for Languages and incorporate carefully chosen resources from a variety of sources.

Over the course of the key stage pupils are taught to know and understand how to:

- ask and answer questions;
- use correct pronunciation and intonation;
- memorise words;
- interpret meaning;
- understand basic grammar;
- use dictionaries;
- work in pairs and groups, and communicate in the other language;
- look at life in another culture.
- develop language learning strategies

William Law has its own skills progression document for French and German which incorporates the framework of 10 steps for language learning by Dr Rachel Hawkes and the Rigolo learning objectives. This provides clear steps in learning which are used in turn for short term lesson plans and success criteria in planning.

5. Resources

The MFL specialist has a hard copy of each resource from the Rigolo and Dinocrocs schemes and the Dinocrocs DVD as well as CDs of French and German songs used at the beginning of each lesson. The Rigolo programme is installed on all KS2 laptops to enable pupils to access the interactive resources and activities. Books, dictionaries and board games in the target language are stored centrally in the PPA room.

6. Teaching and learning style

We base the teaching on the guidance material in the Key Stage 2 framework for languages. We have adapted this to the context of our school and the abilities of our children.

We use a variety of techniques to encourage the children to have an active engagement in the modern foreign language. In Year 3, this involves taking multi-sensory, kinaesthetic approach. In Years 4 to 6 lessons are also active and engaging. These include games, role-play and songs (particularly action songs). We often use puppets and props to demonstrate the language, when possible we also expose children to a range of voices in the target language. As pupils progress as learners, so will their ability to understand more complex language structures and ideas. Pupils will be expected to demonstrate greater skills in all areas, including writing in the foreign language as they progress through the school.

We believe that making lessons entertaining and enjoyable serves to develop a positive attitude in the children to the learning of Modern Foreign Languages. We build children's confidence through constant praise for any contribution they make in the foreign language, however tentative.

7. Equal opportunities

At William Law every KS2 pupil regardless of race, gender, religion, ability or background will have the opportunity to learn French in Years 3 - 5 and German in Year 6. Language learning forms part of the school statement of purpose and aims to provide an enriching, challenging enjoyable curriculum fully suited to all children's needs.

In all classes children have a wide range of abilities, and we seek to provide suitable learning opportunities for all learners by matching the challenge of the task to the ability of the child. We strive hard to meet the needs of those pupils with Special Educational Needs, those with disabilities, those with special gifts and talents, and those learning English as an additional language (EAL), and we take all reasonable steps to achieve this.

8. Assessing, Recording and Reporting

We assess the children regularly in order to ensure that they all make good progress in learning French and German. This is done informally during the lessons with a specific focus on the learning objective and success criteria for that lesson and in formal assessments at different points in the school year. Pupils are also given the opportunity to reflect on their own learning as well as that of their peers through self and peer assessment.

Assessment is in four key areas:

- listening
- speaking
- reading
- writing

The assessment focus is taken from the skills progression and Rigolo medium term planning.

Pupils in Year 3 - 5 have an individual French folder in which to store their written work and in Year 6 pupils record written work in a book. A portfolio showing examples of children's speaking and listening work is stored on the school system. Examples of written work are stored in the MFL co-ordinator's file.

9. Monitoring and review

The curriculum leader is responsible for the subject development, planning and teaching of French and German at William Law. Regular observations and monitoring of teaching takes place by peers through triad observations and by the SMT. The curriculum leader evaluates teaching and learning and plans accordingly. Information about pupils' development is fed back to the class teachers.

10. Preparation of current Policy - Review Date

This policy will be updated by the Modern Foreign Languages Co-ordinator and will be reviewed every 3 years.
